COUNTY OF BUTE.

The County of Bute comprises the seven islands in the Firth of Clyde, viz.:—BUTE, the most populous; ARRAN, the largest; the GREAT and LITTLE CUMBRAES, off the Ayrshire Coast; HOLY ISLE and PLADDA, off Arran; and INCHMARNOCK, off Bute.

The total Area of the County (land and water, exclusive of tidal water) is 140,307 acres, of which 53,423 are mountain and heath lands used for grazing. There are about 25,605 acres under all kinds of crops, bare fallow, and grass, which is a gradual inroad on the mountain heath and hitherto uncultivated land.

The principal Industries are agriculture, horticulture, and fishing. The islands possess great and varied natural attractions, and are in the front rank of watering-places.

The Population in 1891 was 18,404—8,211 males and 10,193 females.

PARISH OF CUMBRAE.

The parish of Cumbrae comprises the islands of Great and Little Cumbrae off the Ayrshire Coast. The Burgh of Millport, on the larger isle, is a popular watering-place. The larger isle is about 12 miles in circumference, with a well-made road round it. Cumbrae affords good scope for the botanist; and on 15th May, 1897, a marine biological station was formally opened by Dr (now Sir) John Murray, F.R.S., of the "Challenger" expedition. The building is a short distance from Keppel Pier, on a site gifted by Lord Bute, and cost £1550. This permanent building is a development of the "Ark" with which the late Dr Robertson, the "Cumbrae Naturalist," was associated, and whose collection is arranged for inspection. Curator, Alex. Gray.

Prospectus—1899 Issues.

HAVING brought this Publication before the Public and friends all over the wide world, and won enormous sales everywhere, we now respectfully address ourselves to Advertisers, in the hope that they also will bestow their patronage.

A perusal of the following pages will give an idea of the nature, extent, and popularity of "BONNIE SCOTLAND'S RESORTS."

The Bookselling Trade and Scoto-Foreign Societies liberally dealt with.

Correspondence invited

We are,

Yours respectfully,

HIGGIE & CO.,

Publishers

"O, Rowan Tree."

With the Compliments of the Season from (Sender's name written here).

Make glad the hearts of absent friends at the Festive Season by sending, along with that "dainty literary dish," "BONNIE SCOTLAND'S RESORTS," specially prepared and mounted leaves of that remembrance "O' hame and infancy." Book and flower card, 5d per pair, 4s. per doz. post free, from

Higgie & Co., Publishers, Rothesay.

Forget Me Not.

With the Compliments of the Season from (Sender's name written here).

This modest flower speaks a language dear to all true friends, and its real presence at the Festive Season will revive precious memories of long ago. 5d per pair, or 4s per dozen, post free.

Higgie & Co., Publishers, Rothesay.

"Ilka Blade o' Grass keeps its ain Drap o' Dew."

With the Compliments of the Season from (Sender's name written here)

Even the emerald carpet of Bonnie Scotland is eloquent with lofty sentiment, when clothed in the poetic language of her sons. Preserved grasses, mounted on card, with appropriate verse, and issued as a supplement to that "dainty literary dish," "Bonnie Scotland's Resorts," makes a charming Christmas or New Year present. 5d per pair, or 4s. per dozen, post free, from

Higgie & Co., Publishers, Rothesay.

Private Christmas Cards,

with posies of Real Scotch Flowers,

Printed with Special Greetings, from 3s per dozen, post free, from

HIGGIE & CO., PUBLISHERS, ROTHESAY.

A real flower or leaf pu'd from the bosom of Bonnie Scotland is more appreciated among our kith and kin abroad than is comprehended by those who stay at home. If it was only known the enthusiasm such tokens create abroad, they would be despatched with avidity along with "Bonnie Scotland's Resorts."

It will be obviously necessary, to avoid disappointment, to order early.

Bonnie Scotland's Resorts.

Press Opinions of this Season's Issues.

"Messrs Higgle & Co., of Glasgow and Rothesay, have taken time by the forlock and are now issuing their popular guides to the principal places of interest in Scotland, with the concise compendium on how to get there."—West Lothian Courier, 4th March, 1899.

"It is long since we met with such a leal-hearted 'brither Scot' as proclaims his patriotism from the pages of this booklet. Not alone is he a Caledonian 'stern and wild' with much to say of Bruce and Bannockburn; he is a man imbued with the true poetic spirit that made a Burns and a Tannahill, and—more wonderful than all—he has a fine fund of healthy humour. We venture to think something less than a surgical operation would suffice to make our author smile, or, for that matter to break into honest, hilarious laughter. Let us confess the truth. The booklet professes to be a guide to the 'health, profit (mark profit), and pleasure resorts of Bonnie Scotland,' and its appearance bears out all that is claimed for it in that respect, but the deuce of the matter is, it also contains an appendix, and the appendix happens to be such a unique collection of unmistakable good things, that we have almost been tempted to overlook the remainder of the guide, as a book of handy reference. The writer admits that he is a typical Scot, and backs up the admission with ample illustration. 'It may be,' he says, 'that in the wide world there are to be found higher mountains, larger lakes, longer rivers, loftier and noisier waterfalls, whirlpools with greedier suction, denser forests, taller trees, wider plains, more yawning chasms, deeper caverns, richer mines, more variegated flora, bigger game, more hazardous sports, as interesting prehistoric remains and wonderful traditions and histories, older cities, gayier resorts, more gorgeous and less substantial and efficiently managed railways and steamers, possibly greater poets and sweeter singers, and certainly extremities climates than in temperate Scotland, but one can get too much of any extraordinary monotony. Attractions peculiar to every country in the world are to be found in Scotland in quick succession, and communication with them is safe and easy. This country is a regular 'Multum in parvo.' So, let us add, is the guide itself, giving, as it does, so much useful information in very small bulk, and voicing such excellent patriotism, and we are pleased to have the opportunity to commend it to all true-hearted Scotsmen who love their native land. Published at 2d, and circulated 'in four continents,' it certainly deserves success. Higgle & Co.—Govan Press.

"Messrs Higgle & Co., have just published for another year, this concise little holiday makers' companion, price 2d. Every resort in Scotland is well described, and the book will be very useful to those going North for holidays."—Lytham Times.

"Messrs Higgle & Co., have just issued a little twopenny guidebook to the 'Health, Profit, and Pleasure Resorts of Bonnie Scotland.' The booklet is quite a gem in its way."—Fraserburgh Herald.

"A very useful little guide entitled 'Bonnie Scotland's Resorts,' has been published by Messrs Higgle & Co. and the fulness of its information justifies its reissue. The price is nominal, it is arranged on the A B C principle, and no visitor to Bonnie Scotland should be without this guide to the sights and scenery which awaits him. The concise guide will greatly help the stranger, and open clearly before him much which otherwise could not be readily comprised within the limits of a holiday excursion."—Mid Glamorgan Herald.

"We gather from a handy pocket volume, entitled 'Bonnie Scotland's Resorts' published by Higgle & Co., Glasgow, that the extreme length of the country is 288 miles, its greatest breadth 146, and it has an area of 29,000 square miles—4,000 of which belong to the islands. The mountains are legion. Ben Nevis, the highest mountain in Britain, is 4,406 feet high, and has a road (5 miles long) to its summit, where there is a meteorological observatory. The islands number nearly 800, of which 182 are inhabited. They lie mostly on the west coast. The Orkneys (29 inhabited) stretch away to the far north-east. The inland lakes of the 'land of the flood' are numerous, picturesquely situated, cover 338 miles, and abound with pike, perch, and trout. Many are free, and the protected waters can be fished on certain conditions—which can be learned by those interested."—Evening Mail, Manchester.

"'Bonnie Scotland, as a Health, Profit, and Pleasure Resort.—Messrs Higgle & Co., of Glasgow, have just published another edition of their admirable A B C guide to the 'North Country.' The brochure which comprises, about 100 pages, is replete with all information regarding the holiday resorts of Scotland. It is full of all kinds of useful hints which the tourist will find most serviceable. Short historical references are given of the most notable places, and those who are thinking of spending a holiday in 'Bonnie Scotland' cannot do better than invest twopenny in this handy guide."—Chorley Standard, Lancaster.

"THE HOLIDAYS.— . . . At one time, a day at Blackpool, Southport, or Liverpool constituted the height of their ambition, they have now come to the wise conclusion that a complete change of air and scene can only do good if it is extended over several days. . . . The market is flooded with literature dealing with holidays and holiday rambles, and this in itself shows how increasingly important and widespread is the desire for seeking 'fresh fields and pastures new.' A capital little book, published at the modest price of 2d, has just come to hand. It is called 'Bonnie Scotland's Resorts.' In the space of about 130 pages each town is described, the population, the line of railway running through the town, the history, the chief scenic objects and attractions in the neighbourhood, and the historical and other associations all being given in a form highly acceptable to anyone in quest of information."—Leigh Chronicle, Lancaster.

The Coast Guide and Register

Press Opinions of this Season's Issues.

"This booklet, which is one of the penny time table order, and published on the first of each of the summer months, is deservedly a local favourite, giving as it does a great variety of information in a handy form for the holiday-maker."—Weekly Herald, Glasgow.

"Calculated to be of interest and value to holiday-makers."—Record, Glasgow.

"Contains a wealth of information as to coast towns and holiday resorts."—Ayr Advertiser.

"Time-tables, and much more indispensable information"—Evening Telegraph, Dundee.

"This handy little penny Guide ought to be in the hands of every pleasure seeker. It is full of the kind of information that one is always in need of at the coast, and can seldom get without a deal of trouble—Trains, times of coaches, steamboat excursions, hotels and hotel rates, indoor and outdoor entertainments, where to stay, and 'where to buy' everything, from a bottle of ginger to a ready-made suit. A useful diary and pages for memoranda are included, and the brief descriptions of the various Clyde resorts are brightly and attractively written. If only provided with a catchy-looking cover, the Guide would be hard to beat."—Govan Press.

"The A B C Coast Guide, is a serviceable pocket treatise that should be in the hands of every traveller. Within small compass it compresses all information required to make the path of the tourist easy, besides being furnished with diary, memoranda pages, &c. The price is only one penny."—Argyleshire Herald, Campbeltown.

"Scottish tourists, especially those who wish to make their acquaintance with the West Coast, will commit a grievous blunder if they fail to equip themselves with Messrs Higgle & Co.'s unique 'Coast Guide, Diary, and Register'—one of the handiest of guide-books we have ever seen. The Guide is a perfect packet of the most useful information, all arranged in a most convenient way. It is indispensable to the tourist."—Fife Free Press, Kirkcaldy.

"Any one who lives in Glasgow or along the West Coast should find room in their pockets for Higgle's 'Coast Guide.' It is full of reliable information about excursions, holiday resorts, sailings, etc., and is a most useful and convenient penny-worth. In addition to being a time table, it is also a diary and golf scoring book as well."—Huntly Express.

"The Coast Guide Diary and Register" issued by Messrs Higgle & Co., is a useful booklet at the present time, and is a store of valuable information to travellers and holiday-makers. It is splendid value for the modest penny."—Scottish Sport.

"This excellent penny Guide of 128 pages, is now on sale all over the West Coast. Carefully compiled and with a vast mass of information put into the smallest compass, this is just the booklet for travellers and tourists, and should be in the vest pocket of all who are on the move."—Oban Telegraph.

"Should be a useful little book for the visitor at the coast to carry in his pocket."—Largs and Millport Weekly News.

"The A B C Coast Guide (1d.) is again published by Messrs Higgle & Co., Rothesay. It contains a great mass of information useful to those about to indulge in holidays."—Scottish Cyclist, Glasgow.

"Before the excellent advice, 'Don't Worry,' it might have been well to have inserted a note on 'How to Pay Hotel Bills'."—Dundee Advertiser.

"Tourists will find very useful. There is full information about railway, coach and steamer routes, and condensed descriptions of every east and west coast resort in Scotland. A number of useful 'hints' are appended concerning camping-out and other matters which are interesting to pleasure-seekers."—Northern Ensign, Wick.

"A useful little penny booklet, which gives a list of excursions from various places, days of sailing of the various steamers on special trips, fares, and other information. Regular runs on the West Coast, and a host of other items whereby a holiday of longer or shorter duration may profitably be arranged to advantage, are included in the pages."—Stirling Observer.

"Admirably adapted for the purpose for which it had originally been called into being. It is 'compactly built together,' of an exceeding handy size, and altogether a 'boon companion' to the tourist bound for the West Coast."—Northern Figaro, Aberdeen.

"A handy little publication is the 'A B C Coast Guide,' which is issued from the offices of Messrs Higgle & Coy., Glasgow and Rothesay. Extending to 125 pages, it is nevertheless of a size suitable for the vest pocket, and gives bright and interesting descriptions of prominent watering-places and health resorts, as well as of the firths, lochs and rivers of Scotland, together with information in regard to trains, coaches, and steamboats, and miscellaneous hints on fishing, golf, swimming, camping out, &c. 'The Coast Guide' is a wonderful penny-worth."—Kilmarnock Standard.

"Visitors to the Clyde watering-places would do well to provide themselves with copies of the 1d Coast Guide. It contains lists of the excursions which can be made from each important place, time-tables, and much more indispensable information."—Montrose Review

BUTE COUNTY DIRECTORY ADVERTISEMENTS.

"Contains a great deal of information in very small bulk, and as it is published for a penny, it should be in the pocket of everybody who goes 'doon the watter.'"—Evening Times, Glasgow.

"A good practical acquaintance is shown in the various holiday resorts on the Clyde, and a good many points are found brought together here in a concise and well arranged form which are difficult to get at in the larger books of reference."—West Lothian Courier.

"This small volume is a veritable encyclopædia of information for tourists to the West Coast, comprising as it does a time-table and a description of all West Coast towns worthy of note, as well as many other interesting and useful items, not the least useful of which are hints on bathing, boating, golfing, etc. The book is sold at the popular price of one penny, and is superior in many respects to the largely and more costly volumes of its class."—Crieff Journal.

"A neat and comprehensive 'A B C Coast Guide.'"—Haddington Advertiser.

"This will be found a very useful little book to all who contemplate travelling to or from the coast or who are in the position of not knowing where to go to for a summer holiday. It is excellent value for a penny."—Hamilton Advertiser.

"A handy little publication for the pocket, with lots of useful information for the holiday time. It gives all the necessary particulars about routes, excursions, fares, &c."—John O' Groat Journal.

"This handy little publication, now that the summer season is on, has an excellent collection of notes on the routes, resorts, excursions, fares &c., of the West Coast. One penny is the price."—Paisley Daily Express.

"Is indispensable to those desiring up to date information as to how and where to spend a holiday and how much it will cost."—Good Templar.

"A B C Guide to the watering places on the Scottish coast. Much useful information is given in brief space. The price is only 1d."—Pollokshaw News.
